

Modular building on a flatbed trailer.

Self-issuing is easy

Create an online account in less than five minutes, then you can:

- Create and issue your own permits 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
- View all permits issued to your fleet.

Important note: Check your route

It is the responsibility of the carrier to check road restrictions prior to moving oversize loads. It is also the responsibility of the carrier to know and follow the rules and regulations related to oversize loads.

For more information visit our website at:

Do you need a WSDOT permit right away or after business hours? Want to issue your own WSDOT oversize/overweight permit?

Sign up and issue your own temporary vehicle license (TRIP), fuel use (temporary IFTA), oversize/overweight permits, and more.

The process is simple.

- Visit www.wsdot.wa.gov/commercialvehicle
- in the “Trucking News” section select “Self-Issue Permits”, then
- follow instructions for your own login ID and password.

That’s it. You can now issue various permits.
(see list inside)

NOTE: If you purchased WSDOT permits before, your company information is stored in the permit system. However, you still need to create an online account.
